

Visionary workshop: 37 trends reshaping the future of HR

HR needs to get ahead of the change curve. It needs to ‘Play to win’ in order to stay relevant and help organizations transform into future needs.

Megatrends are reshaping who future talents will be, from where and how they will work; transforming HR’s role, responsibilities and tasks.

Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies has conducted several global research initiatives to identify and qualify the strategic choices and challenges facing HR. This research identified 37 future trends with significant strategic importance for HR leaders.

Did you know that the substance of work is shifting away from ‘busy work’ towards ‘competitive creativity’ and ‘Value work’, that the rhythm of our organizations is changing the 9-5 era and changing the concept of when work is happening and how we collaborate? And that, companies need to accommodate this by reorganizing collaborative work in to hyper agile campaigns, and innovate the workplace to ‘dynamic work spaces’ in order to embrace future work activities?

These transformations require new visions and strategic choices from HR for not becoming obsolete or be substituted by Supply chain, facility management, Technology and marketing.

Join us in an intense visionary workshop exploring the 37 trends reshaping the future of HR and develop actionable insights that will future-proof your organization through a visionary and transformative HR strategy.
